

COUNTY COUNCIL – 27 JUNE 2018
ADDENDUM TO THE LEADER’S POSITION STATEMENT

Influential Women in Government Technology

I am delighted to report that four of the council's female employees feature in a list of the most influential women in government technology.

The initiative, run by GovTech highlights women across the public sector who are leaders, trailblazers and transformers.

The long list features nominations for:

- Ann Carruthers, Director, Environment and Transport
- Cheryl Davenport, Director, Health and Care Integration
- Jayne Glasgow, Chief Digital and Information Officer
- Jo Morrison, Head of Communications and Digital

Voting is now open for the final list. You can vote for three women and I encourage all members to vote so that our council features in the top ten. Voting closes at 5pm on Friday 6 July.

Follow this link to vote now: <https://www.govtechleaders.com/Female-GovTech-Leaders-2018-who-gets-your-vote>

This page is intentionally left blank