

Leicester, Leicestershire & Rutland's Living Well with Dementia Strategy 2019-2022

1. Introduction

Supporting and helping those living with dementia and their carers remains a priority for Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland's (LLR) health and social care organisations.

Our strategy sets out the Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland ambition to support people to live well with dementia. It reflects the national strategic direction outlined in The Prime Minister's Challenge on Dementia which details ambitious reforms to be achieved by 2020. The strategy is informed by what people have told us about their experiences either as a person living with dementia or as a carer and is written for those people; specifically those with memory concerns, those with a dementia diagnosis, their families and carers and the organisations supporting them.

Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland's Living Well with Dementia Strategy 2019-2022 has been developed in partnership between local health, social care and voluntary sector organisations.

An important focus of our strategy is to move towards delivery of personalised and integrated care. We have used the NHS England Well Pathway for Dementia* to give us a framework that puts the individual and their carer at the centre of service development and implementation across health and social care. We acknowledge that by collaborating in this way, efficiencies across the wider health and social care system will also be realised.

As a partnership, we are committed to minimising the impact of dementia whilst transforming dementia care and support within the communities of Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland, not only for the person with dementia but also for the individuals who care for someone with dementia. We also aim to improve access to diagnosis and support services for all patients and service users, especially those from Black, Asian, minority ethnic and hard to reach groups who currently do not access services.

We want the well-being and quality of life for every person with dementia to be uppermost in the minds of our health and social care professionals.

2. What is dementia?

'Dementia describes a set of symptoms that include loss of concentration and memory problems, mood and behaviour changes and problems with communicating and reasoning. These symptoms occur when the brain is damaged by certain diseases, such as Alzheimer's disease, a series of small strokes or other neurological conditions such as Parkinson's disease.'

Prime Minister's Challenge on Dementia 2020

All types of dementia are progressive. The way that people experience dementia will depend on a variety of factors therefore the progression of the condition will be different.

People of any age can receive a dementia diagnosis but it is more common in those over the age of 65. Early onset dementia refers to younger people with dementia whose symptoms commence before the age of 65. Younger people with dementia often face different issues to those experienced by older people.

No two people with dementia are the same and therefore the symptoms each person experiences will also differ.

Links to further information about the different types of dementia are provided at the end.

3. Vision, guiding principles and aim

This strategy has been guided by principles developed by NHS England in their transformation framework. This 'Well Pathway for Dementia' is based on NICE guidelines, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development framework for Dementia and the Dementia I-statements from The National Dementia Declaration.

Our vision is that Leicester, Leicestershire and Rutland are all places where people with dementia can live well through the following guiding principles:

We aim to create a health and social care system that works together so that every person with dementia, their carers and families have access to and receive compassionate care and support not only prior to diagnosis but post-diagnosis and through to end of life.

4. National context and background

There are a number of national drivers that shape and influence the way the UK should tackle dementia as a condition

Prime Minister's Challenge on Dementia 2020

In February 2015, the Department of Health published a document detailing why dementia remains a priority and outlined the challenges the UK continues to face in relation to dementia.

The priorities identified within this are:

- 1) To improve health and care
- 2) To promote awareness and understanding
- 3) Research

Equality Act 2010

National picture

There are currently 850,000 people living with dementia in the UK. 42,325 of these have early onset dementia.

The number of people with dementia is forecast to increase to 1,142,677 by 2025 – an increase of 40%.

1 in every 14 of the population over 65 years has dementia

It is estimated that 1 in 3 people in the UK will care for someone with dementia in their lifetime

1 in 3 people who die over the age of 65 years have dementia. Dementia now accounts for 11.6% of all recorded deaths in the UK.

In the UK 61% of people with dementia are female and 39% are male. There are a higher proportion of women with dementia as women tend to live longer, however, this does reverse when considering the data for people with early-onset dementia.

Gender

It is estimated that there are 11,392 people from black and minority ethnic (BME) communities who have dementia in the UK. 6.1% of all those are early onset, compared with only 2.2% for the UK population as a whole, reflecting the younger age profile of BME communities.

Dementia and Ethnicity

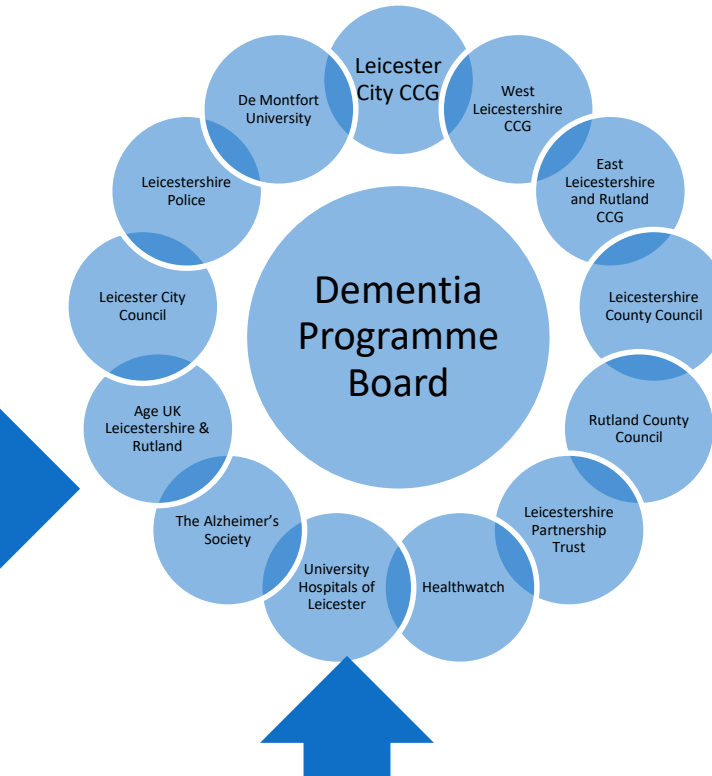

5. Local context and background

Better Care Together (BCT) is the programme of work that plans to transform the health and social care system. The Sustainability and Transformation Partnership (STP) in LLR is derived from this programme and is developing proposals across a variety of health and social care areas, to enable us to plan and be responsive to the needs of the whole population. The dementia work stream has established a programme board with membership across partnership organisations and linked to the wider STP programme.

The Dementia Programme Board has written this strategy and high-level delivery plan. The multi-agency partnership works to ensure that interdependencies are identified including but not limited to:

- Home First
- Urgent and emergency care
- Integrated locality teams
- Resilient primary care
- Planned care
- Mental health
- Prevention
- Medicines Management
- Learning disabilities
- End of life
- Continuing health care and personal budgets

Funding in relation to dementia is not directly addressed within this strategy. However the financial position cannot be ignored therefore the available resources for each organisation will be reflected in individual organisational plans that will be developed by partners setting out their role in the delivery of the strategy.
